Manu National Park spans 1,716,295.22 hectares, including mountainous regions with elevations of up to 4000 m and a portion of the Amazon Basin plains. The park is divided into four zones: restricted use (accessible only to researchers), reserved (for recreation and research), recovery (for the rehabilitation of disturbed areas), and cultural (for human settlements and activities, including nature tourism).

DAY 01: CUSCO ? SAPAN SACHAYOQ

We start early with a pick-up from your hotel in Cusco, heading through the majestic Andean mountains, passing picturesque communities like Paucartambo and Ninamarca, home to pre-Inca chullpas of the LUPACAS culture. Ascending the last mountain to Acjanaco, the entrance to MANU NATIONAL PARK, we embark on a 6.5 km hike, approximately 3 hours, along the Trocha Ericson (Inca trail). Descending into the lush cloud forest, housing a diversity of flora and fauna, including epiphytes, orchids, and bromeliads. At the end of the hike, we take the bus at Hito de Pillahuata, after the tunnel. Taking the bus, we arrive at our lodge in Sapan Sachayoc in the afternoon. There, we explore the forest in search of the Andean Cock-of-the-Rock, Peru's national bird, along with toucans, trogons, quetzals, monkeys, and, hopefully, the South American spectacled bear.

Overnight in a local lodge (L/D)

DAY 02: SAPAN SACHAYOQ - ATALAYA

After breakfast, we embark on a 2 to 3-hour exploration hike in a pristine forest in search of the Qoyachayoc waterfall, hoping to spot monkeys, hummingbirds, and other species. Then, we drive to the Patria and Pilcopata valley. In the afternoon, we visit the hummingbird sanctuary, Pico de Oz, to observe numerous hummingbird species and other birds like the king Vulture. Also, groups of monkeys and, possibly, sloths. At the end of the day, we head to the tourist port of Atalaya, where we board a motorized boat to reach the EcoManu Lodge. You'll have free time to enjoy activities like swimming and fishing in the rivers and relaxing in the lodge's hammocks.

Overnight in a local lodge (B/L/D)

DAY 03: ATALAYA - CUSCO

We pack early for the return to Cusco after enjoying a healthy breakfast. On the way back, we make stops to admire wildlife such as the Andean Cock-of-the-Rock and quetzals. Optionally, and if possible, we visit the Wayquecha biological station near Acjanaco. We arrive in Cusco around 6:00 p.m. End of services.
